FACULTY OF INFORMATICS
Masaryk University

Faculty of Informatics, Masaryk University & Fulbright Commission, Prague, organize a workshop

University-industry cooperation in informatics

with the key theme

"Sharing great and poor experience from industry-academia cooperation"

Time & place: September 13 (Thu) @ Masaryk Univ., Faculty of Informatics

The workshop aims to provide a platform for fruitful discussions and exchange of ideas between no more than 50 people.

Attendees: Anybody with a clear and concrete proposal to share own (institution's) experience from cooperation of industry and academia in the area of informatics. Proposals will be judged and invitations issued by the workshop board (see below).

Your proposals for presentations or other forms of input at the workshop are welcome, with the deadline for submissions set for July 15, 2018.

The kick-off questions that should guide you (yet do not restrict yourself to those only):

- Our model of cooperation - pros & cons
- What we tried and failed with (and why?)
- What we've been practicing and having great experience with
- What we had done and later stopped (and why?)
- What worked for us for a while - and what was the showstopper
- Problems we see in discussions (and perceived expectations?) with partners from "the other world"
